

FISKER AUTOMOTIVE EXPANDS TO ACCELERATE DEVELOPMENT OF NEXT-GEN PLUG-IN HYBRID CARS

Fisker Automotive is expanding to accelerate development of its next generation plug-in hybrids, code named Project NINA.

Beginning March 1 Fisker Automotive's global headquarters in Irvine, California will house all design, engineering, sales, marketing, and administrative operations.

The company expects the number of new hires to expand dramatically.